

METRO BUCKEYE CONFERENCE

The Metro Buckeye Conference (MBC) is pleased to announce Mr. Brian Blevins as its next conference commissioner starting on June 1, 2022. Blevins succeeds Ray Cox who has served as the MBC commissioner since 2019.

As commissioner, Blevins, a veteran in the field of interscholastic athletics, will lead the Metro Buckeye Conference in continued academic and athletic success throughout the greater Dayton and Springfield areas. Blevins primary role will be to expand the MBC membership in the coming years.

Blevins will continue teaching pre-calculus and business math at Kettering Fairmont High School while leading the MBC.

"I am very excited to be named the Metro Buckeye Conference commissioner and want to thank the selection committee for the opportunity to serve and guide its member schools," Blevins said. "What intrigues me most in this new role is the opportunity of future expansion that this conference is aspiring to accomplish. The member schools of the MBC are hoping to add additional schools with football programs to create a diverse league that will serve all its members."

With a rich tradition in academic and athletic excellence, where sportsmanship and positive member relationships are celebrated, the MBC has been serving its membership in the greater Dayton and Springfield areas since 1996.

The MBC seeks to expand its membership in the coming years by adding new schools with football programs to join its current membership. Any schools with interest can learn more by contacting the MBC office at: metro buckeye@gmail.com
